junior Web-developer

I am working on both the server-side and client-side of a website. My responsibilities include integrating with third-party APIs such as WildBerries, OZONE, and Yandex Market, making modifications to the database structure, and handling the incoming and outgoing flow of goods in the warehouse. On the client-side, I am developing SPA pages and adding functionality for importing and exporting goods from the warehouse. My responsibilities cover almost everything from development to implementation.
