Profile

I was born in Tashkent and am currently studying in secondary school. I have a strong passion for languages and education, actively learning and teaching English. I am proficient in Uzbek, Russian, and English, with translation skills across these languages. Additionally, I am a dedicated karateka with a black belt in Shotokan karate, having competed in both national and international championships. My diverse skills in languages, translation, and martial arts reflect my commitment to continuous learning and self-improvement. I specialize in teaching English from levels A1 to C2, providing support and development for students' language skills. I excel in effective communication, both over the phone and in face-to-face interactions. I have experience in creating visual content and confidently use Microsoft Office for preparing educational materials and handling administrative tasks.
