ABOUT US

ABOUT PROJECT PROGRESS, MILESTONES IN PLANS

Keeping informed

Construction groups work closely with clients and stakeholders to understand project requirements, objectives, and budget constraints. Construction groups are responsible for obtaining the necessary permits and approvals from local authorities and ensuring that all construction activities comply with building codes and regulations.

Project Planning

Construction groups oversee all aspects of the construction process, from site preparation and foundation work to structural construction, electrical and plumbing installations, and finishing touches. They are responsible for quality control and safety on the construction site.

Assigning tasks

Some construction groups may have in-house design and engineering teams or collaborate with external firms to create detailed construction plans, blueprints, and architectural designs. They are involved in the initial project planning phase, helping to develop construction plans and timelines.
